

Gault Estate Donated To McGill

HOME SITUATED IN SCENIC SETTING

THE BEQUEST, known as "The Hamilton Gault Donation in Memory of His Father, a Former Governor of McGill", comprises a country home and unspoiled property near the village of Mont St. Hilaire. The Mountain of St. Hilaire was described by Brigadier Gault as "my most cherished possession".

2000 Acre Estate Given University At Gault's Death

McGill University was presented with an estate of more than 2,000 acres at Mont St. Hilaire by the recently deceased Brigadier A. Hamilton Gault. Brigadier Gault made the gift with the request that it be known as The Hamilton Gault Donation in Memory of his Father, a Former Governor of McGill.

Mr. A. F. Gault, the father of the Brigadier, served McGill University as a Governor from the time of his election on May 26, 1888, until his death on July 13, 1903 and was an active supporter of the Departments of Botany and of Mining and Metallurgy. His Will provided a bequest towards the endowment of the Faculty of Arts and Science. Memory also recalls the historic association of the McGill University Companies with the "Princess Pats" founded by Brigadier Gault in 1914 — an association recorded in the pages of R. C. Fetherstonhaugh's McGill at War.

of our country, that I offer it for the acceptance of McGill."

Governors Name Marshall as Dow Prof. of Physics

Five McGill professors with a combined service of 78 years in the departments of history, economics, political science, chemistry, and physics were given promotion.

Dr. J. Stewart Marshall was first appointed in 1945 as an assistant professor of Physics. At the present time he is head of the Stormy Weather Research Group at McGill University. Dr. Marshall was named Professor of Physics, the Dow chair which has been held by such physicists as Dr. John Cox, first chairman of the Physics Department; the late Lord Rutherford; and Dr. J. Stuart Foster, who is now Rutherford Professor and director of the Radiation Lab.

OTHER APPOINTMENTS

Dr. Charles C. Bailly who came into the university in 1935 as a lecturer in the History Department is now a Professor of History.

Dr. James R. Mallory, since 1946 an Assistant Professor of Economics, now a Professor of Economics.

Dr. Elton R. Pounder who began as a demonstrator in physics in 1934 is now Professor of Physics and director of the Ice Research Project.

Dr. Leo Yaffe who began in 1952 as a Special lecturer in chemistry is continuing as a Professor of Chemistry.

FORMAL DEED

In announcing this bequest, Principal James said that long before his death Brigadier Gault had been discussing this donation with the University and a formal deed of donation, which was not executed before his death, was drawn up some time ago.

In one of his earlier letters on the subject, Brigadier Gault had written "The Mountain of St. Hilaire is my most treasured possession, and in offering it to McGill it is my hope that its beauties and amenities may be preserved for all time to come not only in the immediate interests of the University itself but, through its corridors of learning, as a great heritage for the benefit and enjoyment of the youth of Canada.

"Such contacts with the peace and beauty of nature should be an influence toward the better and selfless citizenship on which the future of Canada depends, and it is with this thought in mind and in the hope that my gift may be to the glory of God and to the honour

CUP Condemns Expulsion Of Laval's Student Editor

WINNIPEG, — The Canadian University Press has condemned the administration of Laval University at Quebec for expelling Student Editor Normand Lacharite because of an editorial appearing in the university's newspaper, Le Carabin.

In a resolution passed at its annual conference here, the C.U.P. — a federation of Canadian university newspapers — said Mr. Lacharite was expelled "arbitrarily and without a hearing." It said the action violated the principle that Canadian university journalism must be based on the freedom of the press to best serve the interests of students.

The resolution was passed Wednesday after representatives of Le Carabin gave their version of Mr. Lacharite's case.

The controversy leading up to his expulsion began while he was at the University of Ottawa during the 1957-58 term. He was a co-editor of "La Rotonde", a French-language student newspaper, which in February, 1958, published an editorial criticizing "paternalism" at the university.

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 7 — Revolutionary authorities today announced the execution of 15 officers of the armed forces of former Cuban Dictator Fulgencio Batista. The executions signalled the beginning of widespread trials by revolutionary courts of Cubans accused of crimes against the state.

Education and Propaganda

The opinion that "all education is propaganda" has cropped up several times recently. Though it would be interesting to know why this opinion should appear just now, it is more important to consider in what sense it is true, and if so how it concerns students.

All education certainly has its roots and draws its life from the existing institutions and ideals of society. For this reason all education is impregnated with those ideals. The West has its own peculiar set of values and our educational system reflects these values.

Any theory of action which is harmful to those things which our society cherishes is certain of meeting reproof and reprobation. It may be stopped by social pressure or, in extreme cases, by force. In our democratic system it is the former alternative which is generally used, but it is none the less powerful. A radical opinion shrinks no less from teachers, friends, and family than it does from the power of the law. Men are afraid to think.

One of the things that education in our society has been able to accomplish is to give freedom to the thinker who will dare not to fear. The student who has the courage to challenge social pressure really serves his society best, even though he must bear the punishment for it.

He may return again to the accepted code, but by this action he makes progress possible and prevents consequences more dangerous. The more students are aware of the propaganda in education and arm against it, the more value will that education have for them and for the rest of society.

Solnik's Song

The Russians gave Lunik a pat on the back, and sent her on the way to tell them all about the moon. But Lunik was a mature individualist even though spawned in a country where this is frowned upon, so as she kicked the ladder from under her and soared free of the world's cares into the seemingly endless vacuum, she did some mighty high thinking.

Alas! Poor Lunik was alone in space, all because her country's rivals had failed to launch a spacemate.

But alone or not, Lunik had a mind of her own, and showed it as she sang her song into a microphone for the world's scientists to hear.

"What will I accomplish by getting stuck to the moon?" thought Lunik. "My vanity will be wounded — just look at the name they gave me, it sounds like 'lunatic' — and what useful purpose will be served in my telling them that the derriere of the moon is, after all basically the same as the side we always see? Why should I take responsibility for my masters who may use that horrible place for another Siberia? What kind of mess will these people make when they don't even know how to live in harmony on earth?"

So Lunik soared on, and as she sang out her information, even the world's scientific elite should soon become red-faced. But as she neared her proposed destination, old Luna might have had some misgivings about this Russian intruder, and shied away out of Lunik's reach. Perhaps, thought Lunik, Old Sol the Light would be more receptive, so she sped onward, singing gaily her song about how little those earthlings really know about life and existence, until at last, within reach of Old Sol, her batteries faltered.

She then changed her name to "Solnik" in honor of the Sun. So it came to pass that Solnik went into orbit around Old Sol, who greeted her with "And who's little baby are YOU, my dear?"

"Earth's", said Solnik, "My parents appear to be dying for lack of anything to live for except fight, and wanted to leave their mark in the universe". "Oh", said sophisticated Old Sol who had watched over the Earth since time began, "alone, you should be quite peaceful as my guest, ...er... are there others?" "Well, yes, I should think that I'll have brothers, sisters and cousins here very soon", affirmed Solnik.

Whereupon, Old Sol clapped his hand to his forehead and muttered: "My dear Solnik, do me a little favor, ... if your radio is still working, tell them to bring me lots of aspirin".

Free: Peace of Mind

To the Editor:

Modern Science has certainly taken away much of the drudgery of past ages. However, today, the peace of mind and contentment of those days, seems far harder to attain. It may well be, that the hustle and bustle of modern life has caused people to neglect the Bible, so losing the comfort it affords.

For several years, I have gained this peace of mind by the daily reading of the scriptures. This was not a habit easily acquired, but once it was, the fruits soon followed. The greatest boon to this was a small booklet "The Bible Companion" which is designed to facilitate Bible study. As a seasonal gesture I should be delighted to send a free copy, to any who care to write for one.

Yours sincerely,

Critic Criticized

To the Editor:

Alex Kanner's article on the Old Vic Co. was rather overdone — in fact, it was too much. He has a knack for over-doing things; please keep him confined to the stage, fine arts, or wherever you please, but keep him out of the Daily.

We don't expect you to produce a Brooks Atkinson (of the N. Y. Times) but including sensational writing like Kanner's, can only mean that you aren't even trying.

Does it matter

Manners Movement

To the Editor:

I would like to instigate a movement for a course in good manners to be made available to all undergraduates of this university.

In no other environment have I met so many inconsiderate, self-centred, boorish individuals. Thank God there are over a million inhabitants in Montreal so that the presence of McGill Undergraduates in the community is not too noticeable.

May And Heenan Uphold McGill Debating On TV

The debating skills of two McGill students were pitted against those of two debaters from the University of Toronto last Sunday afternoon on CBC television. The CBC, which carried the half-hour program over its national television network, sponsored the debate as part of its regularly-televised Citizen's Forum program series.

The McGill team of Norman May and Roy Heenan, upheld the affirmative of the resolution "That There is a New Case for

Children Feted By Fraternities

Under the auspices of the Inter Fraternity Council, a Christmas party for the children of the University Settlement was held on December 20 at the McGill Union.

Members of almost every fraternity on campus were present helping with decorations, distribution of refreshments and bringing the various groups back to the Settlement.

The children enjoyed games and movies, saw through the tricks of a magician and devoured all the food offered. In fact, one young man was seen making for the door with ice cream boxes up both sleeves and one protruding from each of his pockets. The highlight of the afternoon came when Santa descended from the balcony with gifts for everyone.

The day ended as the decorations were pulled down and hundreds of balloons showered to the ground. The children with presents in hand and clutching as many balloons as possible were then lead back to the Settlement in the late afternoon cold.

Estate Donated

BRIG. A. H. GAULT

"The Board of Governors of McGill University", said Principal James, "have accepted the donation in this spirit, remembering the long association of Brigadier Gault and of his father not only with the University but with the life of Canada, and with the defense of our heritage."

"Detailed plans for the use of the property are being worked out by a University committee, but every effort will be made to ensure that such use does not impair the beauties of Mont St. Hilaire. To Brigadier Gault, and to Mrs. Gault, who has participated in all of the discussions that looked forward to this gift, McGill University is profoundly grateful."

Pacifism." Each presented a short statement of his position and then proceeded to answer questions directed at the debaters by the studio audience. A final rebuttal was presented by Norman May. A house vote taken immediately after the program went off the air showed that the McGill team won by a conclusive margin.

The debate was simultaneously taped for radio and will be presented on the national network of CBC radio tonight at 8:30 pm. The radio program will carry an additional fifteen minutes of questions and answers which took place after the television time had expired.

This was the first time that the McGill Debating Union had debated on TV, and in fact was the first such debate ever broadcast by the CBC. It is hoped that such a program will become an annual affair, and the McGill Debating Union is working in conjunction with the CBC towards that end.

BOSTON TOUR

Representatives of the McGill Debating Union take off this weekend for debating tours of the Boston and New York areas. A total of five debates has been scheduled in all, four of them against top universities and one against a penitentiary.

Representing McGill on the Boston tour will be Joseph Nuss and Phil Shaposnick, both fourth year law students and senior intercollegiate debaters. In addition to meeting debaters from Wellesley College and MIT at their respective schools, the McGill team will match their wits against inmates of the Massachusetts Correctional Institute, a state penitentiary at Norfolk, Mass. McGill and other top debating schools have regularly met inmates of this prison in debate and have rarely won. This time McGill will be upholding the negative of the resolution that Fathers Should Regain Control of the Household.

Ralph Ordower and Claude Armand Sheppard, first and fourth year law students respectively, will travel to New York on behalf of McGill. Included in their tour are debates against Brooklyn College and the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

ed the editorial and during the following summer Mr. Lacharité and co-editor Jean David, (who is now studying law at McGill) were advised they would not be accepted for the present term.

Mr. Lacharité submitted a report on the matter to the Ottawa University Student Federation. The report later was published in "La Rotonde" and three other editors were ordered to vacate their posts with the newspaper.

Mr. Lacharité, then at Laval, published an article in "Le Carabin" criticizing the Ottawa university for removing the three editors. Six days later he was expelled from Laval.

Lacharité himself explained his case to the conference, and stated that "Le Carabin" planned to fight the issue on grounds that the university's administration had infringed freedom of the press. He asked for CUP support.

Judging will take place on Wednesday, February 18. Included amongst the prizes will be an electric shaver and tickets to all Carnival events.

Beards will be judged according to the following specifications: thickness—10 points, and design, originality and texture—30 points each. This is to allow aspirants who have no growth at this date an equal chance.

Entry blanks may be picked up from George at the Tuck Shop commencing Monday, January 12.

Members of the Executive Committee have been declared ineligible as many have started already.

Such well known men as Burl Ives, Fidel Castro and Hugh Sproule are being considered as judges. However no one has yet been approached.

This is a grand opportunity for those who have been awaiting an occasion to exhibit their virility.

McGill Cagers Set For Assumption And Steelers

The Intercollegiate basketball season opens on Friday night at the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium when McGill Redmen meet the Assumption Purple Raiders from Windsor. Judging from the performances of the Raiders in past seasons, they should be tough to handle.

But Ron Sharpe and his charges are not paying too much attention to former years. They intend to make it rough for the former Intercollegiate basketball champs.

The Redmen are a new team with a new coach this year. Not one of last year's starting five is back this year and Sharpe is relying on newcomers to carry the load for him. Most promising of the rookies is Gary Ulrich, a six foot one inch forward who learned his basketball in American high schools and at the YMHA. Gary impressed local experts so much in local competition this year, that they selected him to the Montreal All-Star team. He is deadly around the basket, and although a little weak defensively, is a fine rebounder. Gary is expected to contribute several twenty point performances this year.

Another performer expected to shine this year is football star Johnny Moore. It has been a long time since McGill has had a speedster on their basketball squad — that is until Johnny came along. He is probably one of the fastest players in the league, and his speed is expected to come in useful in the 'fast break' which the Redmen are expected to use this year. Around the basket Moore is hot and cold. When he is on, he is extremely accurate and is capable of doing much damage to his opponents.

Ron Sharpe is also relying on Tom Richards and Kenny Coles to provide the team with defensive strength.

The man to watch for Assumption is Al Mackenzie. Mackenzie is a former Intercollegiate scoring champion, and Richards will have his hands full in trying to keep Mackenzie's scoring tab down.

MBL TOOL

In addition to participating in the Intercollegiate league this year, the Redmen are participating in the Montreal Basketball League. Thus far the McGill squad has a 1-1 won-lost record in this league. They have lost a game to Loyola and have beaten the University of Montreal earlier this year. On Saturday night they meet the powerful Quebec Steelers at the Sir Arthur Currie Gym.

The Steelers, led by playing coach Ed Lucht, a six foot seven inch whiz, won the Golden Ball Tourney this season, and the Redmen will have to play heads up ball to beat them. The Steelers are believed by some observers to have the strongest squad ever assembled in Montreal.

VOLLEYBALL

The regular schedule of the Intramural Volley ball League has drawn to a close. Next week, playoff games between Arts "A", Science, Phys. Ed. and Physio will be played, in order to determine the intramural champion.

Potential intercollegiate team members have been holding practice sessions every Wednesday under the very excellent coaching of Miss Heiler. In order to be eligible for the final selection of the Intercollegiate Team, an aspiring volleyball player must attend the set number of practices.

In an extramural meet held here against Macdonald College, McGill handily downed the Aggies five games to three, showing strength in all departments. A return match will be held later in the term.

Reinforcements To Join Redmen

After a long Christmas layoff, the McGill hockey Redmen swing back to action as Ken Murray's boys seek to begin the new year with more inspired, driving play after a rather dismal 1958 start. The team last saw action just before the holidays as they visited the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, Mich. The Redmen came out on the short end of 8-2 and 10-2 scores in successive nights there, but actually put on better performances than in any of their three league games at the Winter Stadium. Without the services of star forward Ivan Saunders, they had Michigan down 2-0 in the opening match, before the Wolverines began to overpower them in the late stages.

Coach Murray is actually optimistic about the whole thing and is confident that the Redmen will show great improvement in the remaining 9 games of the intercollegiate schedule. The boys looked like a much more fighting team at Michigan and the only place they can go is up from here on in. The players are improving with each outing as they are getting the thing that they lacked the most — experience.

Encouraging news to Murray is the fact the team will be strengthened by several experienced faces for the remainder of the season. The most noteworthy addition will be that of law student, Terry O'Connor who is regarded as an excellent forward by the coach. Doug Maule, defenceman for the past few seasons, has given indication that he may rejoin the team which would no doubt bolster the sagging Redmen defense corps. Mike De Laroche, a forward, will provide a third addition to the team.

The boys resume practices tomorrow, and Murray reports that they are really anxious to get going, and try to climb out of the league cellar.

Practices

Hockey practices will begin on January 8. Boxing practices begin on January 12.

All intramural leagues will commence week of January 12. All games in all leagues scheduled for week of January 5 will be played as follows:
Ice Hockey—Week of February 9.
Basketball—Week of January 26.
Volleyball—Week of February 9.
Floor Hockey—Week of February 9.

The house accommodates ten girls, and in the case of a full house three girls are allowed to bring sleeping bags. The rates are 50 cents per any part of the day and 50 cents per any part of the night. A weekend at the Ski House would amount to about $2.00. Reservation forms could be obtained in the Phys. Ed.
